

Pre-Reading Questions

- What do you think the text will be about? Why do you think so?
- Does the title present you with some idea of the story?
- Is the cover of the text of some relevance to you?
- What do you think, which genre the book is?
- Is the book fiction or based on some real-life story?
- Do the text illustrations provide you with some idea of the story?
- What do you think the main theme of the story will be?
- What do you think the plot of the story is?
- What do you think the tone of the text will be?
- Do you think the author will justify the story?
- What are the possible issues the story will deal with?
- Will the story have some significance in real life?
- What characters do you think the story will have?

Pre-Reading Questions

- What roles do you think characters will be playing in the text?
- Who will be the main character of the story?
- What do you think the ending of the text will be?
- Can you predict the fate of the supporting characters in the text?
- Does the book remind you of something else you have encountered earlier?
- Can you identify some clues the author has hidden in the cover illustrations and text?
- What do you think the author aims at while writing this text?
- What emotions do you think the text will be based on?
- Can you relate the text and title to some personal life incident?
- Considering the cover and title, what questions would you have asked the author if given a chance?
- Are you aware of why we are reading this text?
- Considering the title, what do you think the writing format of the text will be? Is something unique or the author's trademark writing style?

While Reading Questions

- Can you describe the theme of the text you have understood so far?
- What do you think will happen next in the text?
- Did you understand what we just read right now?
- Why do you think the characters did what they did?
- Do you think the character was right in their decision?
- Is there any better way to deal with the situations the character(s) are in now?
- What do you think you would do if you were in the place of the character?
- What emotions do you think the main character is feeling right now?
- Does the topic make sense to you now?
- Is the text justifying the main idea of the story?
- Can you make the plot more interesting and intriguing?
- Can you visualize what the author is trying to portray?
- Can you relate to the characters and the story?

While Reading Questions

- Do you know someone in real life who resembles the main character of the text?
- Has anything similar to the text's plot ever happened to you in your real life?
- Do you relate with the character's emotions and mindset so far?
- How do you think you are different from the main character in the text?
- Is there anything that needs to be re-read for better understanding?
- Can you identify some turning points in the story that shaped the story?
- Why do you think the author wrote the middle like he did?
- What surprised you most about the text till now?
- Can you describe the text we have just covered in your own words?
- Do you like the characters so far? Which character is your favorite and why?
- Do you think the vocabulary used in the text so far is easy to understand and read?
- Do you think the author has smartly used similes, metaphors, etc., in the text?

Post-Reading Questions

- What is the main idea of the text?
- Can you describe the story in your own words?
- Can you list at least five important events in the story? Try to list them in categories of beginning, middle, and end.
- Did you understand the implications of the theme in the text?
- Can you relate to every character in the text? If not, why?
- Is the ending justified to you?
- How do you think the story should end?
- What questions do you want to put up with the author?
- Is there anything about the text that's bothering you?
- Do you think some or all characters deserve a different ending?
- What is one personal learning you will take with yourself from this text?
- Will you re-read this book or recommend it to your friends?
- Did the author justify your expectations from the text?

Post-Reading Questions

- Did you understand the character's background and history?
- Is any word, paragraph, or page unclear and needs clarification?
- What do you like and dislike most from the text?
- Is the author's intention behind writing the story clear?
- How does the story make you feel?
- Are there any surprising elements in the story for you?
- From whose perspective has the story been written?
- If given a chance, which character role would you like to play? Why?
- What modifications would you like to make to the role of the main character in the text?
- What do you think the sequel of the text will be about?
- Can anything similar to the plot happen in real life? Why and why not?
- Can you highlight some similarities and differences between the characters in the text?