

DIALOGUE WRITING

Prompts

- I am tired of answering that question Peter. Get over it.
- I told you not to touch that.
- I am not sure if I want to do that, but I can.....
- No, we will never make it on time. We are too late for our school today and the teacher will be....
- I guess he has a point. It's better to apologize and let the matter slide.
- Yes, you heard it right. There's a witch living in an abandoned house deep inside the forest.
- Oh, don't worry about that. I am too good to mess this up.
- Sir.... I don't understand this. Why does it have to be done like this only?
- Wait, you can see me?
- You go down that lane, I will go to another one. And we both will meet at the intersection in half an hour.

DIALOGUE WRITING

Prompts

- I feel like I am cursed or something.
- Why does it always happen to me? Why?
- The place is a home to wild animals. You should stay away from it, especially during the night.
- Do I have to do this? Or maybe you can ask someone else to help you?
- Whatever you do, please don't press that button.
- Do you think the teacher will make an easy paper for tomorrow's examination or are we going to regret not studying earlier?
- Yes, you are right. Even I heard the same from some fellow mates.
- Do you remember we promised each other that we would be friends forever?
- This is the second time this week I have spilled coffee on my notebooks.
- We are celebrating Christmas at my grandma's place this year.

DIALOGUE WRITING

Prompts

- I can't believe you told the police officer that I was kidnapped.
- Are you even listening to me?
- Oh dear! You look tired. Do you want a glass of water?
- I am not eating that. We should order pizza or something else to eat.
- Who keeps such passwords? Make it more challenging.
- Right. First, you made a mistake and now you want me to apologize for that. Not happening.
- You should try some exercise. It will help you with your health.
- I am planning to join a part-time job during summer vacation. This way, I will be able to save for the next term.
- Don't just stand there looking at me. Come here and help me fix this.
- Why do you have that look on your face?

DIALOGUE WRITING

Prompts

- You are going in there right now and apologize for your misbehavior.
- What are you reading? Is it that book you bought last month?
- I don't think it can be repaired now.
- There is no point in running. The bus is already gone.
- Maybe we should ask the officer. He can tell us the correct way to the park.
- That's the first time I have heard anyone calling it that
- Oh, I love chocolates. Maybe we should make a chocolate cake.
- I have never heard of it. Are you sure you are saying it right?
- Well, that explains why you were jittery the whole morning.
- That is a very bold thing to say. And that too in front of everyone.

DIALOGUE WRITING

Prompts

- You are wrong. That's not what happened at all.
- Wanna go out and chill in the swimming pool? We can also have lunch outside.
- Do you think, in retrospect, that it was a terrible idea and we all could have been in big trouble?
- You have got exactly thirty seconds to explain to me what you are doing here.
- James, you have got to see this.
- Dude! It's 3 am and raining heavily. What on earth made you think it is a good idea to sneak out of the house now?
- This is like a secret between us two. Promise me you won't breathe a word of it in front of anyone.
- You cannot sit here all day long and binge movies like you have nothing to worry about.
- Oh yeah, dragons are as real as you and me. And we are going to find one to prove it to the world.
- What makes you think I need your help?

DIALOGUE WRITING

Prompts

- I told you that the diary was personal and you cannot touch it, let alone read it.
- Where did you learn how to do that?
- I guess you are trying to be sarcastic, but let me tell you, you are failing miserably.
- We have been waiting for two hours. Where were you?
- I wasn't planning on saying anything but your seriously wrong information compelled me to say something.
- Locals say this mansion has been abandoned for decades and no one ever visits this place.
- Where did you learn to play such terrible piano? Surely you had some classes to be that awful.
- Or maybe we can put a break on our exploration altogether and head back toward the safety of our camp since the palace is getting eerie very fast.
- I should have told you this a long time ago, but I was scared of what if....
- Maybe we should take a break from technology and hide our phones for at least a week.

DIALOGUE WRITING

Prompts

- Write a conversation between two friends who have been lost in the mountains for more than six hours while trekking and are trying to find a way to communicate with someone who can help them.
- Recall any late-night conversation with your friends or siblings and recreate that conversation to craft a new story, highlighting the character's emotions and behaviors in detail.
- You have been on a solo trip and someone robbed you, leaving you with nothing. You find the nearest police station and try to explain your situation to them. Craft a conversation between a police officer and you.
- Deep conversations are the best way to express one's authentic self. Craft a deep conversation between two friends regarding life and the future.
- You are working for a community center and you have been allocated the task of convincing the society members to donate for the welfare of the needy. Pen down a conversation regarding how you will approach the people and successfully convince them of the donation.

DIALOGUE WRITING

Prompts

- Imagine your hero of the story is a vampire who is describing his world to a normal person. Craft a conversation between the two with proper emotions and feelings.
- Small conversations are not always easy and can soon become awkward. Plan a small conversation between two people who barely know each other and ensure that it is smooth and relevant. Highlight the possible emotions of both characters.
- Imagine a conversation between a scientist and an alien regarding the secrets of the universe. Craft a conversation for the same and include certain universe facts (that you have probably studied in your school) to make it look more real and intriguing. Highlight proper emotions and reactions in the conversation.
- Think of any impactful conversation you have read or heard in a book or movie. Based on that conversation, craft a new story. You can use the same conversation or a different one but the central idea of the conversation will remain the same.
- Craft a simple conversation between a boy and his mother where the boy tells his mother about the happenings of his day while the mother prepares an evening meal.

DIALOGUE WRITING

Prompts

- Pen down a funny conversation between two friends who talk about an important issue but in a light and sarcastic way.
- Plan a rhyming conversation where two strangers engage in introductory conversation and talk in rhyming phrases only.
- Think of any inspiring conversation you ever had with someone. Recreate that conversation by adding what else you could have said or removing what you think you wouldn't.
- Write a conversation between a woman and a salesman where the salesman tries to persuade the woman to buy the products he is selling.
- Craft a conversation between two friends who are planning a five-day trip to nearby-state. Include every travel detail possible in the conversation, including budget, itinerary, travel, food, etc.

DIALOGUE WRITING

Prompts

- Write a conversation between two adults who are trying to resolve some problem of theirs while sorting out the tension between them. Think of a background story, context, problem, emotions, etc. to make it more enriching.
- What according to you is most important for effective conversations between two or more two people? Using that craft a conversation highlighting the importance of that aspect.
- Write a conversation between any two people who are on a secret mission. Describe a conversation between them, both external (what they say to each other) and internal(what they say to themselves).
- Think of your favorite author and search for his real conversation style. Now plan a conversation between you and that author in the author's style on the importance of reading.
- Write a conversation between two land animals who are searching for food in the summer.

DIALOGUE WRITING

Prompts

- “That was thrilling. I never had this fun in my life,” said A “Wanna do that again?” said B

- “I asked my mom about the trip,” said A
“What did she say?” said B
“I will be grounded for a week, starting today!” said A

- “Do you think it’s alive?” said A
“Yeah, look it’s moving,” said B

- “Get in the car,” said A
“Why?” said B
“We are going on a trip,” said B

- “Do you think this will work?” said A
“It has to,” said B
“Otherwise, we always have our original plan,” said C
“NO!” shrieked both A and B together

DIALOGUE WRITING

Prompts

- “What were you thinking?” Said A to B
“I don’t think she was thinking at all,” said C
- “I don’t think you understand how serious this is,”
said A
“I don’t think I understand anything at this point,” said B
- “Life is pretty hard, you know,” said A “Yeah, and if you keep on acting like this, it will be harder,” said B
- “We should find a place for the night,” said A “Where do you think we will get a place in the middle of nowhere?” said A
“I don’t know. Only a miracle can save us now,” said C
- “Mom, I will be late. I am going to a friend’s place for a study session.”
“Sure, but what is in your bag, since your books are still in your room.”

DIALOGUE WRITING

Prompts

- “I can’t believe you did that,” said A “Well, I didn’t have many options since they were coming for me,” said B

- “Are you sure you want to do that?” said A
“Yes, I am fully sure of it,” said B
“Cool, if something goes wrong, we run!” said A

- “Where were you? You never made it to school, you weren’t at your friends, no call, nothing!” Shouted A “Well, actually I was in my room only, simply sleeping,” said B

- “Hi, I would like to order a regular-size burger,” said A
“Are you alright, sir?” said B
“Yeah, why?” said A, confused
“Since you are ordering a burger at a museum,” said B

- “Did you ask him?” said A
“Yeah, he asked us to stop bothering him,” said B
“But he is our speaker for the debate competition!” said A

DIALOGUE WRITING

Prompts

- “This was my favorite cup,” said A
“I am sorry I broke it,” said B crying
“Oh, it was already broken,” said A with a mischievous grin

- “Do you know what today is?” said A
“Sunday?” said B
“No, it’s your mom’s birthday,” said A

- “I think this is the wrong way,” said A
“I know the way around here like the back of my palm,” said B
“Is that why we have traveled around the same place like three times?” said A

- “Did you get my letter?” said A
“Oh yes, a pigeon just delivered it,” said B

- “There’s blood everywhere,” said A
“No, man! It’s just some thick red paint” said B
“But it looks like blood,” said A
“That doesn’t make it blood!” said B